ILLINOIS HAS MANAGERSHIP

Bill in Legislature Would Allow Cities Below 500,000 To Gain Delays. to Adopt That Form by Popular Vote-Digest of Bill.

SPRINGFIELD, III., Feb. 7 -- Advocates of the managerial form of government for Illinofs cities are said to be finding opposition to the bill introduced in the Illinois house by Representative Frank E. Abbey, of Biggsville, propos-Frank E. Abbey, of Biggsville, proposing amendments to the present commission form of government act.
Under the measure, which was referred to the committee on municipalities, city commissioners would receive not to exceed $300 a year. Their duties would be purely legislative, functions now performed by them being delegated to "directors" who would be subject to dismissal by the manager.

The proposed new system might be adopted by vote of cities and vilinges not exceeding $60,000 population.

By a special section of the Abbey bill, auditors would be employed to "maintain a continuous audit of all departments" and report them to the manager, the purpose being to make possible a responsible finance accounting. The bill does not change the operating departments beaded by the four-commissioners in the present commission form of city government.

A few cities in the state have managerial systems under which the managerial systems under which the manager accretions addisory powers, but has no legal status.

Under the Abbey bill, corporate powers would be vested in the city council but the manager would be administrative head of-she city government responsible for management of all departments, would be appointed by the council without regard to politics or place of residence and would hold office at the will and pleasure of the council.

The mayor would be the only elective officer to receive a salary under the Abbey measure, the compensation to remain the same as under the present commission form of government set. Commissioners would receive $16 for each meeting of the council attended from roll call to adjournment, and $1 as and you time spent in city committee work, but the tetal would not be permitted to exceed $300 per year.

Special Cable Dispatch to The News
Solmitar.

PARIS, Peb. 8. —President Wilson and it of his colleagues sat around a circular table in the apartments of Col.
House in the Hotel Crinon Tuesday evening, discussing the best plan for the league of nations, which it is expected will be formally proposed to the peace conference in a few days.

The countries represented were the United States, Great Britain, France,
Italy, Japan, China, Belgium, Serbia, Srazil and Fortugal, whose delegates constitute the special committee. The proposed covenant, which has the approval of British and Italian members, as well as the French with some reservations, was fully examined and was the basis for the discussion.

The Japanese delegates who hitherto have been uninformed as to the attitude of their government had heard from Toklo and expressed a willingness to co-operate in the establishment of the league. Baron Chinda had a long talk with Col. House before the meeting wherein he made clear the Japanese attitude as one desiring to offer no obstacle, but, on the contrary, to make such suggestions as would strengthen the league of nations.

From one of the principal delegates

tititude as one desiring to offer no batacle, but, on the contrary, to make such suggestions as would strengthen he league of nations.

From one of the principal delegates resent the informations was obtained hat the compulsory arbitration feature of the league will not be included in the final plan. No sanguine hopes had seen entertained of its adoption. There have been some men like Col. House who believed that if compulsory arbitration were agreed upon prevention of war would be absolutely assured, and it is recognized by the American senate probably be unwilling to aubmit every dispute to future arbitration, but that other nations are unready to go that far as yet.

It must be clearly understood that the compulsory submitsion feature still stands in the joint plan under discussion. Procedure, therefore is this:

TROOP MOVEMENTS TO U. S. ARE DETAILED

on compelling submission of the distret.

Inasmuch as the territorial integrity every nation is to be guaranteed the covenant, any station which indes the territory of another in any ay whatsoever during the exercise of ty one of the three processes of setsment mentioned, commits an act of ar against all signatories of the saty, and each of these nations is to to take punitive action.

Of course if any nation accepts arbition it is compelled to abide by the sard, but the original suggestion iich has now been dropped would have ren no choice as among the three thods of settlement, and confined the country simply to arbitration. Unthere has been further progress in methods of arbitration, many of delegates to the several nations feel it the public opinion of their countries is not ready to be bound by unsays of other nations, preferring the er two processes, which give fullest blicity of facts to the world, and i still enable any nation which is fident of the Justice of its cause seek further means of confirming opinion.

Ompulsory arbitration had to be proced for other season.

its opinion. Compulsory arbitration had to be dropped for other reasons, too. The Japanese, for instance, would have felt bound to raise at this time the question of immisration and their exclusion from the United States and Australia, and to endeaver to obtain the removal of this discrimination which they concluder a question of national honor, and desire to know if they would be compelled to submit it to a court of arbitration. LET-DOWN IN PRODUCTION CHARACTERIZES BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Business conditions are characterized by slack-ening of production, reluctance of commercial buyers to acquire stocks of goods in anticipation of reduction of prices and by only a slight falling off of retail business, says the federal reserve board's monthly review, made public today.

The board does not attempt to foreset the future course of prices but The board does not attempt to fore-cast the future course of prices, but federal reserve agents in several parts of the country predicted that the gen-eral level of prices would not fall much within the quart few months. Confi-dence in a healthy development of the situation was expressed by the board.
